Dedication and compassion are the words that come to my mind when I think of the Argabrights. Joy and gratefulness radiates from the eyes of the children they serve. Some of them may feel: Thanks for the education and meals we receive. Others are just grateful that their lives are literally being transformed from despair and hopelessness to ones with a real future. At the same time they say 'thank you' to the many that have extended helping hands through their sponsorship. And it is not just one child here or there, but literally hundreds that for the first time in their lives receive education and services that affect their mental, social, physical and spiritual development. May I encourage you to consider becoming part of this transformation process from darkness into light?

Movements are of God but we play an important role in setting the atmosphere so they can begin and help them to keep spreading. Fanning the flame will keep any fire burning brightly. All we can do to keep this movement of God going in South Asia will only play into the will and plan of God. Let's see where God wants to take us in the big scope of things as we move from success to significance.

This family has made a difference in so many parts of the World that the name Argabright is synonymous with Work and Witness Missions. I have said it many times to many people in many places that David Argabright is Mister Work and Witness. Since 1982, he has given of himself tirelessly and unselfishly to the building of God's kingdom around the World. It has been my joy to travel with David into some of the most remotes area of the Amazon to build churches and lives. He is an inspiration to me, my family and to all he comes into contact with for his devotion and commitment.

I am pleased to support the Child Development Centers (CDC) in Southeast Asia, and specifically to partner with David Argabright in doing so. I have known David for a number of years through our connections on the Virginia District Church of the Nazarene. David has consistently demonstrated a deep passion for the ministry of God's mission work around the world. He has given sacrificially and contributed his construction talents to create effective ministry locations around the world including South America, the Horn of Africa, and now in South Asia. This CDC project promises to have long lasting and longterm impact for good and for God!

Dr. Phil Fuller, District Superintendent
Virginia District Church of the Nazarene

One of the greatest privileges I have had throughout my thirty-three years of ministry took place in September of 2007 when I had the opportunity to meet David Argabright and his brother Glen. I well remember that day as I began to share the vision God had given us for the church and people of South Asia. Before long we were sharing tears and laughs and prayers as we sought God's will for how HE would lead all of our futures. I sincerely believe God put us together that day to make an eternal difference in the lives of the people of South Asia.

David has embarked on organizing the very first work and witness teams to ever be a part of the ministry of South Asia. Ministry Centers have already been built in Bangladesh and Sri Lanka and the first ever team to Nepal is already scheduled in March 2009. These Ministry Centers not only focus on providing a place to teach the salvation through Jesus but also many forms of compassionate ministry including Child Development Centers.

David is embarking on a tremendous fundraiser for the children of South Asia in this bike ride and we would encourage everyone that possibly can to join him with any size donation that you possibly can. If you are unable to contribute financially we would ask that you contribute with your prayers for David and the children of South Asia.

For almost 20 years I've had the awesome privilege of working with David Argabright as he lives out his call to missions. In the mountains of Ecuador and the flatlands of Venezuela, I've seen his passion for people lived out in the sacrifices that he and his family have made for decades. I've never seen him back down from a challenge to do what God is calling him to do for His people. Thank you David and all the Argabright family for being willing to be used by Him!!!

Rev. Marty Hoskins, Director of Volunteerism
Church of Nazarene

It has been my privilege to have known David Argabright for over twenty-five years, and to have served as his pastor for about fifteen of those years. David has a heart for missions and for getting the Gospel to as many as possible around the world.

He was a staunch supporter of the local church and of his pastor, a man of prayer and great spiritual depth. I personally have accompanied him on Work and Witness trips and observed the excellent organizational skills and work ethic that he possesses.

Anyone who supports David's efforts through finances, prayer, or actually traveling with him to the mission site, can count on it being done right and to the Glory of God. I would encourage all who may be aware of the South Asia endeavor to give it your prayerful support.

Rev. Robert Field, Pastor
Church of Nazarene

After 10 years and serving with Dave Argabright on over 50 successful mission trips together, I have not met anyone else who has more drive and passion for the people of God around the world. Seeing the many needs in diverse areas of the world together, one of the greatest we have seen is for the children of South Asia. Once again Dave is rising to the challenge that God has laid on his heart to prove that one "sold out" man can make a difference for Jesus Christ. May we all join in with him on this endeavor of hope for the children of South Asia to impact today's generation and those to come.

Rev. Jeff Jackson, South Asia Field
Co-Work and Witness Coordinator

David Argabright inspires me to pray, serve, sacrifice, and be fully committed to God's plan to reach the world with God's gift of salvation through Jesus Christ. I had the privilege of leading a team to Sri Lanka in August of 2008. David mentored me, prayed for me, worked alongside of me, and became a brother in Christ to me. He sees people that he meets with a heart of love and eyes guided by the Holy Spirit. I look forward to supporting him in prayer and in giving towards this project.

I had the wonderful privilege of serving with Dave in Ethiopia. I've participated on many work teams, but my trip with Dave was far and away my favorite. I attribute this to his leadership, experience, and his love for the people. Early on in our trip, it was evident that he truly loved serving others. From speaking with Dave, I know he has the same zeal for the South Asia field! By supporting Dave, you have an opportunity to directly impact lives in a very depressed region of the world – a region starving for the Word of God. I truly believe that the next “Great Awakening” is on the horizon in South Asia and you can be a part of it by investing your prayers, time, and/or financial gift! I can't think of a better investment to make than to make an investment in leading lost souls to Christ.

Don't wait for God to move where you are, you need to move to where God is working.

David Argabright and his wife Sharon have responded obediently to God's call to use their energy and resources to further the spread of the gospel around the world. With Leon's (his father who is now in heaven) and his brother Glen's full endorsement and support, untold thousands have been impacted for Jesus. The Lord has certainly blessed their faith as they have lead and supported more than 100 work and witness trips with over 1,000 individuals participating---many of whom have gone on multiple missions. Only heaven will reveal the tremendous number of lives changed for eternity through such faithful and unwavering commitment. Truly, David Argabright is an instrument in God's hand---taking the gospel to the ends of the earth.

Joyce Williams, author and lifelong friend of the Argabright family

Dear brother David, loving greetings from Nepal! I cannot express in words, how great and significant are the commitments you and Glen have for this South Asia field. I just can say, the "Headlines" you and we together with the other respective leaders in this field will make. There will merely be the articles in the paper and no headlines without the commitment of Argabright family.

Dilli Subba, NCM Coordinator, Nepal

I've known David 3 years and had the honor of being his interim pastor 9 ½ months. I've witnessed his concern and zeal for the lost through his involvement in the Jesus Film and Work and Witness trips. David's deep love and compassion for those alienated from Jesus lead me to believe he, like the Apostle Paul, is consumed in taking the Gospel to South Asia. Eunice and I fully support his desire to work with the peoples of South Asia and win souls for our Lord and Savior. We lovingly encourage others to do likewise.

Pastor Ken Salyers,
Virginia District Church of Nazarene

I have had the privilege of knowing and working with David Argabright for the past twenty years. I have enjoyed a business relationship with Argabright Contractors, insuring their family owned business, and watching David, his brother Glen, and their father before them, be innovative and dynamic to grow and develop their areas of expertise.

Beginning in 1991 David joined the Board of Directors for an insurance group that I work with. David learned quickly, contributed and was recognized as a leader, becoming Board Chairman in 1996. I worked even more closely with David during his years as Chairman. David was not afraid to challenge the status quo assuring that we would grow and further develop our services, processes and results. David was respected as Chairman for his drive, professionalism, faith and solid relationship with those involved with the Board.

As David continues his work with Argabright Contractors and his passion, his missionary work, I wish him all the best and I know he will bring success to any programs that he is involved with.

Sincerely,
